A ttrpg podcast by queer people,
for queer people.

Creation of queeRPG

A TTRPG (table top role playing game) podcast by queer people, for queer people. We want to create a place to tell fun, imaginative stories, and give LGBTQ+ individuals a platform to share their experiences and creativity. From the minds of Kenzie Tartaglione and Ashley Westover who are also producers, players, and even game masters of the episodes.

Seasons and Sessions

Every season showcases a new system with a new set of queer storytellers premiering weekly. In the brief hiatus between seasons, listeners can experience mini campaigns and one-shots run and played by new and old cast members. The current seasons include Wildmoore High, a Monsterhearts 2e campaign, and Of Kith and Pen, a Wanderhome campaign.

More than just Gameplay

Outside of the actual play world, once a month you can catch a new series called Press Pause: Let's Chat. The series where Kenzie interviews creatives in the TTRPG space about what they do and why they do it!
